PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

As you are aware we have been speaking to the boys recently about their behaviour when travelling to and from school. We've been reinforcing our expectations and the values that these represent. Given this conversation, it was wonderful to receive two very different forms of communication from the general public over the last week. One was a phone call from a member of the public congratulating the school because she had watched our students help a mother struggling with a pram and a toddler at Burwood Station. Not only were our boys giving up their seats for members of the public, as they should, but they helped the woman both on and off the train with the pram.

The second piece of communication came by Facebook and it was about boys on a bus assisting people getting on and off. Not only did the member of the public comment on how wonderful the boys were, but also about how impressed she was with the leadership of our senior students who were telling the juniors what they should be doing. Even though such things are basic expectations I'm really proud of the boys and what this represents to the wider community about our school and its values.

SCIENCE

Year 11 Biology students have been investigating enzymes and their optimum performance conditions by conducting a range of experiments in the lead up to their practical assessment task.

Ever wondered why some people are lactose intolerant?

People with lactose intolerance cannot metabolise lactose properly, (a sugar found in milk and dairy products) because their digestive system produces too little of an enzyme known as lactase. Lactase is produced in the small intestine. The human body uses lactase to break down lactose into galactose and glucose, which is then absorbed into the bloodstream.

If lactase levels are low, the lactose does not break down and it does not absorb into the bloodstream. Instead it moves into the large intestine, or colon. Bacteria in the colon react to any product that contains lactose and they may experience bloating, flatulence, and diarrhea.

YEAR 11 LEGAL STUDIES EXCURSION 11 MARCH, 2019 PARLIAMENT HOUSE AND THE STATE LIBRARY OF NSW

The Preliminary Legal Studies class visited NSW Parliament House and the State Library of NSW on Monday 11th March, 2019.

At Parliament House students were able to participate in role-plays on the process of passing legislation and the role of both Houses. A further scenario involved a mock question time and saw Jordan Ddibya as a passionate Premier, Jake Donnelly, Minister for Police and Mahdi Saleh leading a challenging opposition!

At the State Library of NSW students participated in a workshop focused on utilising the Library resources for their senior studies. They received Library cards that will allow them to use all e-resources remotely and took a virtual tour of these resources. This will be extremely useful for all subjects as they move towards their HSC.

- 'Save the Date' Campaign Brochures
- Vaccine Order Forms

Key facts

- now is a great time to check that you've had all your vaccinations so that you're protected while you study, work or travel.
- free catch-up vaccines are available from your GP as long as you start your vaccinations before you turn 20.
- vaccination is safe and effective.

Not sure if you've had all your vaccinations?

The Australian Immunisation Register (AIR) records all childhood vaccinations given since 1996 and provides Immunisation History Statements on request, including information about any missing vaccinations. You can request an Immunisation History Statement at any time.

- using your Medicare online account through MyGov account
- using your Medicare Express Plus App
- calling the AIR General Enquiries Line on 1800 653 809

To check your adolescent vaccinations (usually given at school), call your local public health unit on 1300 066 055. We're working to get adolescent vaccination records on the AIR soon so you'll have a complete vaccination history in the one place.

Missing some vaccinations?

Don't worry, free catch-up vaccines are available from your GP as long as you start your vaccinations before you turn 20. Talk to your GP about starting your catch-up schedule to make sure you're fully protected.

Here's a table that lists all the recommended vaccines and the number and interval between doses, depending on your own vaccination history:

Vaccine	Number of free catch-up doses	Interval between vaccine doses
Hepatitis B	3 doses	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> One month between dose 1 and 2 Two months between dose 2 and 3 (there must also be four months between dose 1 and 3)
Human papillomavirus (HPV)	3 doses	0, 2 and 6 months
Measles-mumps-rubella (MMR)	2 doses	4 weeks between doses
Meningococcal ACWY	1 dose	N/A
Pertussis (whooping cough) included with diphtheria and tetanus (dTpa)	3 doses	4 weeks between doses
Polio	3 doses	4 weeks between doses
Varicella (Chickenpox)	2 doses	4 weeks between doses

More information about vaccinations for young adults is available in this webinar.
